Planet Rhythm is a Hit

Ezra, Hayden & Ayla bang out a rhythm on a drum.

Last Thursday, the students (and several parents) had a blast with John Ratley who brought his Planet Rhythm drum extravaganza to El Arish State School.

Every child from Feluga who wished to participate, banged a variety of drums from Africa, Asia or the Americas.

Several students were chosen by John Ratley in an impromptu band that then performed for the combined schools of El Arish and Feluga.

The passion became hilarious when Zac Bragg’s gusto caused his drumsticks to disappear into the laughing crowd.

We Have Blast Off for Brisbane

Amidst an enthusiastic meeting, last Tuesday, the Year 5 and 7 students’ parents, backed a proposal to take a week-long excursion to Brisbane just before the September school holidays.

When the kids travel to the Big Smoke, they will experience various state museums, State Parliament, a tour of Queensland University and Lang Park and every variety of public transport available in the big city.

Fund raising which is essential if the trip is to go ahead, will now begin in earnest. Mrs Reichardt is working on ideas for a raffle tentatively titled, Christmas in July. More news regarding that raffle will appear soon.

Time to Stamp Out Bullying

The students of Feluga State School have made a commitment to stamp out bullying. In every institution in the world, bullying whether it is verbal, physical or psychological is insidious and hurtful. The long term effects on the victim and also the perpetrator are serious. Often, bullying requires the tacit, inactive support of by-standers.

At Feluga, we have spent some time over the last couple of weeks discussing bullying and its ramifications.

Today was the Day of Action Against Bullying and Violence, an initiative by the Queensland Government but now taken up by thousands of schools right across Australia.

In the upper school, the students nominated an anti-bullying goal for the week. Many sited several goals. The wristband your child may have received is the result of achieving their goals.

School Leadership Camp

School captains, Ezra Matthews and Maddison Spyve spent Wednesday and Thursday at a Leadership Camp at Darradgee Environmental Centre.
